

SCOTT CLARKE BIO

An American of Jamaican heritage, Scott Clarke founded Amandla Development to ensure those previously oppressed by apartheid have the opportunity to participate in the growing economy on equal footing. His belief in education's ability to lift populations out of poverty led to work with such institutions as Yale University, the International Leadership Charter School's startup team, and Life Choices Peer Education Programme in Cape Town, South Africa.

Scott received his BA in Political Science from Yale University and his MPA from New York University's Wagner School of Public Service. He speaks Spanish, French, Mandarin, and Portuguese, and is studying Afrikaans and isiXhosa.
